

U.S. to Test Atomic Bomb Havoc On Warships, Army, Navy Say

Germans Used Deadliest Gas on Persons in Camps

Tests Were Made With Farben Knowledge;
Germans Put Oil
Company on Spot

Washington, Dec. 11 (AP)—Senators heard from a military government official today that Germany "developed the deadliest poison gas in the world" by testing it on concentration camp inmates.

The testimony came from Col. Bernard Bernstein, director of the Division of cartels and external assets, U. S. military government in Germany. He submitted a statement to a Senate Military Subcommittee headed by Senator Kilgore (D-W. Va.).

Bernstein also offered what he said was a German denial of a Standard Oil Company of New Jersey contention that the United States benighted rather than suffered through Standard's pre-war relations with the big German dye trust, I. G. Farben Industries.

On the poison gas matter, he said that many plants and all stocks of the German government were before occupation by the Russians, Bernstein continued.

"But at least one of the terrible secrets which the Germans hoped to save for the next war was uncovered.

"Our investigation has disclosed that an I. G. Farben official at Wuppertal-Elsfeld developed the deadliest poison gas in the world. This gas, unknown to the military authorities of the Allied Nations, could have penetrated any gas mask in existence.

"G. originally carried out its poison gas experiments on monkeys; later on human beings, x x x these gases were not only used on helpless people during the stages of experimentation, but were later used with full knowledge and acquiescence on the part of Farben to exterminate whole groups in concentration camps such as Auschwitz."

Says She Has Seen George
Come Through Before;
General Has Good Night

Heidelberg, Germany, Dec. 11 (AP)—Gen. George S. Patton, Jr., was reported rallying tonight, with some improvement from the paralysis resulting from the fracture of his neck.

His wife flown from the United States today reached his bedside.

Heidelberg, Germany, Dec. 11 (AP)—Mrs. George S. Patton, Jr., expressing confidence that her husband's fighting heart will carry him through to recovery, arrived today at the Army hospital where the colorful general is in a critical condition from a broken neck.

"You can tell me all about it," Mrs. Patton said to Maj. Gen. Julius Kenner, Army theatre surgeon, "but I have seen George in these scrapes before and he always comes out all right."

Mrs. Patton arrived here following a flight from the United States in an Army plane, and went immediately to the 130th Station Hospital.

Patton, paralyzed from a fracture of the neck, improved slightly during the night, it was officially announced. He has had a blood transfusion.

The colorful commander of the U. S. 15th Army had a good night.

Maniac Is Blamed In Hotel Killing

Chicago's Top Detectives
Are Put on Case; 9
Slain in Week

Chicago, Dec. 11 (AP)—The brutal murder of tiny, comely Frances Brown, 33 year old stenographer and former Wayne, by a man police described as a maniac, was under investigation by Chicago's top detectives today.

"Whoever the killer was, he's a maniac, and we must get him," said Capt. Frank Reynolds as police intensified their search to solve the latest in a series of slayings in Chicago in the last week. Police reports disclose nine persons were slain in the last week. Three of the deaths have not been solved.

Miss Brown, discharged from the Waves last September after three years of service, was killed some time Monday morning in her apartment at the Pine Crest Hotel in the North Side Lakeview district. The slayer twice shot and twice plunged an eight-inch broad knife into the throat of the 95 pound, five foot, one inch Miss Brown and then left her nude body hanging over a bathtub in her blood-spattered apartment. A hotel maid found her body.

The killer, before leaving, wrote a message on the wall in lipstick in large, uneven letters. It read: "For heaven's sake catch me before I kill more I cannot control myself."

Detailed Report Will Come in Three Months on Power of Bomb on Humans

Washington, Dec. 11 (AP)—The United States, as custodian of the atomic bomb, intends to find out what it will do to warships as well as to cities and people.

Disclosed that plans are under way to disclose that plans are under way today for a joint test of atomic bombs against naval vessels.

Similarly the results of a detailed, scientific study of the destructive power of nuclear explosion on buildings and humans will be forthcoming in a report of the United States strategic bombing survey in Japan. The first phase of this report is expected within the next three months.

The survey, a group of civilian and military experts appointed a year ago, made its second report on a European study available today—a blood-chilling account of the horrors modern war visits upon civilians. Members of the survey now are making a similar study in Japan, where the aerial bombardment of that country ended with the dropping of two atomic bombs.

The announcement on the forthcoming tests against warships was cryptic. It said only that plans for the operation involve assembling "many naval vessels," extensive use of recording instruments and the gathering of necessary personnel.

Although there has been speculation that captured Japanese naval ships might be used as targets, Navy officials say that because they lack such factors as extensive compartmentation, they are not fully comparable to American warships.

The second report of the strategic bombing survey covered the effects of the Allied bombing on German civilian life. The medical branch of the survey found, among other things, that fire was the great killer in air raids and that an estimated 500,000 persons died in German cities under the pounding of aerial fleets.

Maj. Cortez F. Enloe of Manchester, N. Y., one of the survey group, told a news conference that the atomic bomb raid on Nagasaki "was not nearly as bad as the area raid on the city of Hiroshima." There, he said, three attacks in as many days set off fires that burned six weeks and in which 46,000 known dead were counted. An estimated 19,000 more bodies still are in the ruins two and a half years after. (Japanese authorities estimated that from 40,000 to 45,000 died in the Nagasaki attack.)

"The danger of the atomic bomb is the danger of fire," said Enloe. "Atomic bomb experts, however, rate fire as second in casualty-causing results. They give the blast effect top position, with radio activity the third casualty-producing effect."

Promises Is Made Vienna, Dec. 11 (AP)—Urgent appeals for food and other vital necessities to prevent possible starvation in some Austrian areas have brought from UNRRA, Director General Herbert H. Lehman, a promise that his organization will go into action as soon as funds are made available. The UNRRA, by Gen. Mark W. Clark, American commander in Austria, and by the Allied Council.

Appeal Is Made Camp Shanks, N. Y., Dec. 11 (AP)—This Army processing center today issued another appeal for civilian workers to replace Army men released under the point system. Capt. Bernard Kelly, public relations officer, said the camp needed 500 boiler firemen at 86 to 92 cents an hour; 53 automobile mechanics, 80 typists and numerous telephone operators, porters, janitors and laborers.

Indonesians Threaten to Use Poison

Annihilation of Dutch
Forces Will Take Place, Premier Tells World

Task Is 'Easy'

Socotomo Says There Are
70 Millions Behind
Movement

Batavia, Java, Dec. 11 (AP)—Indonesian leaders threatened today to use both poison and arms to resist military restoration of Dutch sovereignty in strife-torn Java.

Premier Sutan Sjahrir of the unrecognized Indonesian republic said Indonesian forces would fight if the British attempted to land more troops to back up the rule of the Netherlands.

From a radio station near Soerabaja, the native leader Socotomo spoke of a campaign of poisoning against the Dutch, saying:

"The Dutch are boasting that they soon will bring in thousands of soldiers. What of it? We are determined to annihilate them, even if we have to poison them to death."

"We have 70,000,000 behind us. It is an easy task for us to get rid of 100,000 or 200,000 enemies by poison."

Simultaneously, the Netherlands East Indies government announced that acting Governor-General H. J. Van Mook had left by plane Thursday for the Hague. N. S. Blom, director of the Department of Justice, will act in his stead during his absence.

The Dutch news agency Aneta said that British Lt. Gen. Sir Miles C. Dempsey, commander of ground forces under the South-east Asia command, arrived here today.

Premier Sjahrir, again asked world recognition of his regime. His statement came as the British command clamped wartime secrecy on troop movements and communications as a prelude to full-scale operations against armed Indonesians who were reported planning a major uprising by the weekend end.

"We tell the whole world we have won independence and ask recognition," the youthful premier told a press conference.

Referring to a reported British offer to discuss the dispute after the elimination of so-called extremist elements, Sjahrir said the Indonesians would be ready to negotiate "after international recognition."

"If, however, our independence is attacked," he added, "we are compelled to resist. There can hardly be such a thing as war against extremists alone. We never have understood who were termed extremists."

Bus, Trolley Workers Agree to Postponement

New York, Dec. 11 (AP)—Buses and trolleys of the Third Avenue Transit Corporation and its subsidiaries continued to roll today after more than 1,200 workers agreed to postpone a strike scheduled for today pending a vote by ballot.

The written vote will be taken today among bus and trolley operators, members of Local 100, Transport Workers Union (C.I.O.).

At a turbulent meeting last night, the workers first voted four-to-one by a show of hands in favor of arbitration, but then cancelled the vote, although agreeing not to strike at the scheduled hour—midnight last night.

The company operates trolleys in Manhattan and bus and trolley lines in the Bronx and Westchester county. It has an estimated 1,250,000 passengers daily.

The union is asking a 15-cent an hour wage increase and shorter hours. The company has offered a four-cent increase.

Atkins Is Given 5-10 Year Term At Clinton Prison

Highland Man Sentenced
as Second Offender;
Counsel Is Scored
for Lack of Facts

Louis Atkins of Highland was sentenced to a term of from five to 10 years at Clinton State Prison at Dannemora Monday afternoon in county court by County Judge John M. Cashin. Atkins, charged with burglary, third degree, was sentenced as a second offender. He was charged with burglary, alleged to have been committed in the town of Shawangunk.

Last June Atkins was sentenced to prison for a term of from one and one-half to three years, but later it was found he had been convicted previously in Dutchess county of a felony and he was brought back from prison for re-sentence. The Dutchess county conviction back in April 1931, Atkins had contended was a misdemeanor and on that ground he was considered a first offender last June. Conviction of a misdemeanor is not considered in sentencing a defendant. When the State Department of Correction found Atkins had been convicted of a felony instead of a misdemeanor, he was returned to Ulster county and the mandatory statute applying to a second offender became effective. Michael Narod appeared for Atkins and asked that Atkins be allowed to withdraw his plea of guilty to the first count of the indictment under which he pleaded last June, since that plea had been entered on advice of counsel, who had advised the plea without knowledge of the first conviction.

District Attorney Haver contended that counsel for Atkins should have investigated and known the facts.

Judge Cashin denied the application and stated that counsel for defendant could have secured this information. Judge Cashin then explained that it was mandatory for him to impose the five to 10-year sentence. Mr. Narod took exception to the rule of the court. Moses King, charged with grand larceny, second degree, for the theft of a car changed a former not guilty plea to one of guilty to the first count of the indictment and will be sentenced Friday at 10 o'clock.

The case of Chester Atkins and James Chase was adjourned until Friday at 10 o'clock and the Edward Seymour matter was also adjourned until that time.

West Park Man Is Killed By Train During Storm

Stricken Family
Found in County
8 Members Are Gravely
Ill; Parents, Children
Are Hospitalized

That even in these days of plentiful money and huge expenditures by governmental agencies for relief and welfare cases there are outstanding instances of suffering and destitution is illustrated by a story told by Leland P. Pulling, Ellenville funeral director, in Kingston on business this morning.

It is the story of a family of eight—father and mother and six children—all sick and making their home in a small shack about five miles or so west of Ellenville in the hills.

Mr. Pulling said that the story starts with a call made around midnight or later Saturday for a doctor to go to the home, a call that finally was answered by Dr. M. Akin of Ellenville. The doctor found that every member of the family was sick, the mother being critically ill with pneumonia and a two-month old baby suffering with a severe attack of whooping cough.

It was evident that hospitalization was a necessity and that finally was accomplished by Dr. Akin and Mr. Pulling, although with difficulty. The Veterans' Memorial Hospital at Ellenville was full, but Miss Waizman, the superintendent, succeeded in making accommodation for the mother, whose condition is critical, and later her oldest daughter.

Both Kingston hospitals were reported to be full, but by making some changes a room was

Gabriel Johnson, 57, Was Picking Coal When Struck; Inn Caretaker

Gabriel Johnson, 57, caretaker at the Tatra Inn at West Park was instantly killed shortly before 3 o'clock Monday afternoon when struck by a West Shore train while picking coal along the tracks at West Park.

The accident happened during a heavy snowstorm and from what could be learned by state troopers and the railroad police, it appears that Johnson was picking coal along the tracks and as the westbound passenger train No. 7 came along Johnson was walking along the tracks below the private crossing known as the Dumont just east of the West Park overpass. The private crossing is located on the former Black Forest Inn premises, now known as Tatra Inn.

In charge of the train was Conductor John Delaney of Albany and the engineer was Owen Oke of Westcoast.

Coroner Jesse McHugh of Wallkill was summoned and with Corporal Metzger and Corporal Martin of the State Police and Sergeant Schoonmaker of the railroad made an investigation. Police are attempting to learn whether Johnson had any relatives.

Search Proves Fruitless

Ponta Delgada, Azores, Dec. 11 (AP)—A sea and air search based on a report that a large airliner had crashed into the sea off the Azores near San Miguel proved fruitless today. Pan American Airways officials said that none of their Clippers was missing.

Keefe said he is interested in the same subject, adding: "If G-2 (Army intelligence) had sufficient grounds in 1940 to prompt the issuance of orders for an all-out alert, it had a million times as much grounds in 1941 for an even more specific order."

Committee records show that on June 17, 1940, the adjutant general, acting for Marshall, sent the following message to Herron: "Immediately alert complete defensive organization to deal with possible trans-Pacific raid to greatest extent possible without creating public hysteria or provoking undue curiosity of newspapers or alien agents. Suggest maneuver plans. Maintain alert until further orders. Instructing for secret communication direct with chief of staff will be furnished you shortly. Acknowledge."

Marshall testified last week that the alert was the real thing, not a practice.

The November 27, 1941, message to Lt. Gen. C. Short, the Hawaii commander, told him that "negotiations with Japan appear to be terminated to all practical purposes with only the barest possibility that the Japanese government will come back and offer to continue."

The message said that "hostile action possible at any moment," adding that Short was "directed to undertake such reconnaissance and other measures as you deem necessary but these measures should be carried out so as not to alarm civil population or disclose intent."

Short ordered into effect an alert against sabotage, not the full alert such as was called for in the 1940 message to Herron.

Ferguson asked Marshall yesterday.

Small-Time Japs Will Go On Trial Beginning Dec. 18

Tokyo, Dec. 11 (AP)—The first of 300 small-time Japanese charged with atrocities against Allied war prisoners will go on trial December 18 under a speeded-up schedule, it was announced today.

The announcement left undecided, however, the date when war-time Premier Hideki Tojo No. 1 on the Allied list of suspected war criminals will face the Allied tribunal.

Lt. Gen. C. P. Hall, acting U. S. Eighth Army commander, said trials of Japanese accused of mistreating Allied war prisoners might be held concurrently after the first begins next Tuesday in Yokohama, three courtrooms are available there and two more will be after January 1.

Defendants will be tried by military commissions of five to eight members, drawn from Army and Navy officers and civilians. Each of which will include one law member.

The suspects will be defended by 12 counsels, headed by Lt. Col. James Dickinson, Jacksonville, Fla., and Maj. Harold H. Emmons, Jr., Detroit.

In the Diet today, Premier Baron Kijuro Shidehara told the House of Representatives the government is taking steps to extend the current extraordinary session as General MacArthur's agrarian directive speeded consideration of the previously ignored land bill.

The premier did not specify the length of the anticipated extension but said he intended to insure time for enactment of a labor union law which also had seemed foredoomed.

A House committee tolled all last night on the government land reform measure to insure its early discussion in the plenary session. Diet members made no attempt to hide the fact that MacArthur's agrarian directive prompted their nocturnal labors.

Five more war criminal suspects surrendered today at Surabaja, included were two Indian traitors, a propaganda agent, an Indian traitor, and the head of the "Black Ocean" secret patriotic society. Three others asked postponement of their surrender because of illness. The deadline at Surabaja.

Schwenk Pleased At Guard Response

Test Call Is Made Upon Orders by General Hugh Drum

Major John J. Schwenk is greatly pleased with the showing made by the Kingston units of the New York State Guard at the test mobilization called at 5 o'clock Monday afternoon by General Hugh H. Drum.

The major stated that within an hour after the alarm was sounded on the fire alarm system and broadcast over the radio, 80 per cent of the members of the Kingston units were assembled at the armory and under arms. He feels that this was a remarkably fine showing, inasmuch as many of the members had to leave their work to respond to the call, while others came from as much as 18 to 20 miles away in order to be at their post.

General Drum had given notice that a mobilization call would be made, affecting all units of the Third Brigade, which cover territory as far west as Utica. Object of the mobilization was to determine just how quickly, in case of emergency, members of the State Guard could be assembled and ready for action.

It is emphasized that outside of the state and local police forces the State Guard is the sole dependence in event there should be an emergency call for a protective force.

An American transport plane carrying the trio took off for Heidelberg from Marseilles at 10:22 a. m. G.M.T. (3:22 a. m. Eastern Standard Time). The C-54 plane, which had flown them from the United States, was scheduled to land at Paris, but was diverted to Marseilles because of fog and rain at the French capital.

terday to compare the message sent by Adm. Harold R. Stark, then chief of naval operations, to Adm. Husband E. Kimmel, in command of the Pacific fleet at the time the Japanese struck Pearl Harbor, with the November 27 message to Stark.

The Stark message said "this dispatch is to be considered a war warning. Negotiations with Japan looking toward stabilization of conditions in the Pacific have ceased and an aggressive move by Japan is expected within the next few days."

Kimmel was told to "execute an appropriate defensive deployment preparatory to carrying out the task assigned in WLP (war plan) 46."

As he went through the message sentence by sentence, Marshall agreed that some of the Navy instructions were more specific. But at the conclusion he said: "I don't know that I would say either one was stronger than the other. It was a different approach to the same problem."

Lakeview 4-H Club

The Lakeview 4-H Club was one of the few Ulster county clubs to send a committee to the state-sponsored lecture on fox trapping. Those on the committee were Samuel Whitman, Earl Mack and Robert Spindler.

The lecture was given by Professor Levesque of Cornell University. Methods of setting traps, ways of covering the trappers' footprints, the proper method of curing fox pelts and the best traps to use were among the highlights of the lecture.

In the afternoon the professor conducted a field excursion, giving practical experience and a much better understanding of his previous lecture.

Later fox pelts were given to all those present who desired them.

The World Today

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

London, Dec. 11 — War has brought England a heavy increase in divorces, most of which have been based on infidelity, and in addition to those that actually have reached the courts there has been a flood of matrimonial upsets which have been adjusted through the kindly offices of welfare societies.

This seems so contrary to the ultra-conservative character of the Briton, who always has been averse to washing family linen in public, that in searching for the reasons one naturally comes up against the question whether there has been any change in moral standards.

Mrs. Mac and I have been delving into this highly important subject in many places, including the crowded tenement district of South London, and have talked with three British experts—one military and two civilian—who are engaged in handling thousands of so-called "poor person's cases," that is, the cases of folk who haven't enough money to finance litigation without aid.

This widely experienced trio agrees that a slump in John Bull's moral standards is not among the reasons for the increase in divorce. There obviously has been a slump in conduct, due to the extreme circumstances created by the world conflict but the moral outlook is held to remain about the same.

If this seems paradoxical, in view of the fact that most of the divorce cases are based on adultery, it may be explained by the fact that atomic age society reveals what it used to conceal when I first came to England during the last war, England as a whole regarded divorce as a disgrace, quite apart from the religious condemnation of it. Then, too, there was the code which held that Caesar's wife must be above reproach, but that Caesar himself could raise a fair amount of devil without rebuke.

There was one divorce law for men and another for women. These were based on the theory that the man was Lord and master of the family by divine right, and that by the same token he could do no wrong through infidelity.

Finally in 1938 Parliament altered the divorce law so that a woman could get a divorce for adultery, desertion for three years or more, physical (not mental) cruelty and incurable insanity. The result was an immediate heavy increase in the number of suits filed. This slumped temporarily after the outbreak of war, but the present year has seen all previous figures exceeded. This may represent a piling up of wartime matrimonial grievances, although the general trend is said to be towards more divorces.

Favors Re-opening

London, Dec. 11 (AP)—Viscount Samuel, first high commissioner of Palestine, was on record today as favoring the re-opening of Palestine to Jewish immigration. Speaking in the House of Lords yesterday, he denied that Palestine was overpopulated and said it was untrue that the development of the Jewish community there was made at the expense of the Arabs. He said that in his opinion the population could be doubled or trebled.

Police Uncover Kidnap Motive

Carlton Case Break Has Come, Kirby Says

Chelsea, Mass., Dec. 11 (AP)—Police have uncovered a motive for the kidnaping of six-month-old Ronald Carlton, son of a Navy man, and expect "a break in the case soon," according to Lieutenant Inspector John J. Kirby.

Kirby said the motive for the snatching of the baby from his carriage across the street from the family home 13 days ago turned up last night.

"This is the first break in the case," he added, "and we expect it to come to a climax soon." He declined to disclose the nature of the latest police information. Meanwhile, the child's mother, Mrs. James J. Carlton, was in a state of collapse. Dr. Maurice Gilbert, attending physician, said she was suffering from "complete nervous exhaustion."

The doctor said he had ordered her not to see or talk to anyone, except her husband, for about 48 hours. Her condition, he added, was caused by worry and lack of sleep induced by several telephoned ransom demands and one call that the child would be returned "in a box."

Nazis Enslaved Soviet Children Records Reveal

By DANIEL DE LUCE

Nuernberg, Dec. 11 (AP)—Ten-year-old Russian children were kidnapped for slavery in German war factories as part of the Nazi campaign of "extermination through work," according to evidence submitted today at the war crimes trial of 21 of Hitler's top leaders.

Producing the Germans' own records of mass enslavement of conquered peoples to keep the Nazi war machine running, U. S. Assistant Prosecutor Thomas J. Dodd said the kidnapping policy was approved by Alfred Rosenberg, the party's official philosopher and fifth column expert.

Not only were children kidnapped for slave labor but the abduction also of children of "good blood" was favored by the Gestapo to build up Germany's war-depleted population, other Nazi records disclosed.

Films Are Shown
The Nazi leaders on trial before the international military tribunal earlier in the day's session watched with mixed emotions a documentary film of themselves in the decade in which Hitler grabbed power and set Germany on the road to aggression and ruin.

Dodd described Defendant Fritz Sauckel, former S.S. general and high commissioner of labor, as the kingpin of Germany's slave labor.

He read from Heinrich Himmler's speech of October 4, 1943, in which the Gestapo chief told S.S. leaders:

Absolute Rule
"Our basic principle must be absolute rule for S.S. men. We must be honest, decent, loyal and comradely to members of our own blood and to nobody else. What happens to the Russian and to the Czechs does not interest me in the slightest. What nations can offer in the way of good blood of our type we will take, if necessary, by kidnapping their children and raising them for us."

The planned policy of enslaving captive peoples for work in German factories and on German farms was "a program of extermination through work," Dodd declared.

Speers Blamed
Naming others on trial, the prosecutor said that the former munitions minister, Albert Speer, bears responsibility for the estimate of the number of foreign slaves needed by the German war machine.

Others implicated by Dodd in the forced labor program were Reichsmarshal Hermann Goering, Field Marshal Wilhelm Keitel, Arthur Seyss-Inquart, the Austrian Nazi who opened the frontier of his country to Hitler, and Hans Frank, the governor of conquered Poland.

Union Plan Provides Basis For Ford Company Wage Talk

Detroit, Dec. 11 (AP)—A union plan for curbing "wildcat" strikes and slowdowns paved the way today for wage talks with the Ford Motor Company, only member of the automotive "big three" still under union contract.

The Ford Company's favorable reaction to the proposal also raised the possibility that some similar method might be used in solving other car industry labor deadlocks, such as the strike idling 213,000 General Motors employees.

Countering a management demand for "company security," the C.I.O. United Automobile Workers offered to subject instigators of unauthorized work stoppages in Ford plants to discharge and participants in such action to fines.

An unauthorized interruption of work as described as one resulting from a dispute, which could be settled by the impartial umpire or, if not in this category, as an issue not approved by the international union.

Any employee ordered discharged by the umpire could demand an investigation by the local union, and on proving his innocence could have a grievance processed. If a settlement then could not be reached the dispute would go back to the umpire for decision.

The fines—$3 a day for the first offense and $5 for the second—would be deducted from the worker's pay and donated to the President's infantile paralysis fund.

No Lockouts Stipulated
The company would agree not to permit any lockouts and could impose appropriate financial penalties upon any of its representatives if they find guilty of provoking a strike, such money going to the union's welfare fund. The umpire, at the union's request, also would have the right to review such penalties and revise them or discharge the company representatives.

Position Is Clear
Earlier Bugas had said "our position is clear, x x x continuation of this union security depends upon the union in turn tangibly guaranteeing company security."

Richard T. Leonard, U.A.W.-C.I.O. Ford director, said the company had agreed to discuss the union's 30 per cent wage increase demand at the next negotiating session Wednesday. The wage issue previously had not been brought up pending settlement of the "company security" dispute.

As the Ford-U.A.W. relations apparently improved General Motors announced termination of its contract with the union more than four months in advance of its April 28, 1946, expiration date.

But in a vein similar to the Ford demand, G.M. President C. E. Wilson said that in any new agreement which may be worked out the corporation "will insist on provisions regarding union responsibility and assurance of uninterrupted production."

Wilson said the canceled agreement, which dated back to the sit-down strike days of 1937, "obviously" had failed to achieve its purposes.

Secretary of Labor Schweilenbach told the Detroit Lawyers Guild last night that prolonged industrial strife would "dangerously imperil our reconversion to peacetime production." He pleaded for "more of the family spirit within industry" and re-affirmed his belief that only through collective bargaining can such a spirit be attained.

made available at the Benedictine and the five other children were brought to Kingston in the Pulling ambulance and placed under treatment there.

Mr. Pulling said that when he went to the home Sunday morning he found a condition that was almost unbelievable these days. On the floor, near a stove, lay a girl of 9 and a boy of 2, both very weak. Seated at the kitchen table was a girl of five, who later was found to have a temperature of 103. Before her were three small pieces of cold potato which she was trying to eat.

The mother lay on the bed, desperately ill with pneumonia and with her was her two months old baby in the throes of whooping cough. Two other children were about the house, a boy of 7 and a girl of 3, both sick. The father was at home, unable to go out because of a bad cold.

The only well person around, Mr. Pulling said, was a grandmother, who had just arrived after learning of the family's plight.

Mr. Pulling learned that the father had been working when able. He was told by George Bueltmann, town welfare officer, who authorized him to take any steps necessary to provide for the family, that the latter had not been getting relief of any kind, so far as he knew.

ing in efforts to obtain clues. The letters were three to six inches high and the highest sentence was about six feet from the floor.

Capt. Reynolds theorized the slayer was prompted by sex desire and surprised Miss Brown in her room. Another theory was that the killer was a thief. The victim's room was ransacked and her purse emptied. The slayer gained entry from a fire escape.

Miss Brown was alone. Her roommate, Miss Viola Butler, 38, a stenographer employed at the same company with Miss Brown, had been away over the weekend.

A medical examination disclosed that Miss Brown, who first came to Chicago in 1934 from her home in Richmond, Ind., to work as a stenographer, had not been criminally attacked. An autopsy report said a bullet wound in the head caused her death.

Several suspects were questioned and Capt. Reynolds said a "stranger" seen leaving the Pine Crest Hotel early Monday morning was being hunted.

Resolution Passes

New York, Dec. 11 (AP)—The United States Conference of Mayors today adopted unanimously a resolution urging Congressional appropriation of $190,000,000 for 100,000 temporary family units to ease the national housing shortage. The resolution recommended that the housing units, upon completion, be turned over to cities for operation and administration by municipal housing authorities or other appropriate agencies of municipal government.

Single Torpedo Sank Big Japanese Carrier in 1944

Tokyo, Dec. 11 (AP)—Japan's largest and newest aircraft carrier was torpedoed and sunk by a U. S. submarine in its first engagement in the Philippine sea in 1944.

The 40,000-ton Taisho, launched as Japan's answer to ever-increasing American air supremacy, exploded and sank six hours after it was punctured by a single torpedo on June 14, its senior staff officer disclosed today.

Another carrier, the 30,000-ton

Chokaku, also was sunk by an American submarine on the first day of that engagement.

Capt. Toshikazu Ohnaka, the staff officer aboard the Taisho, told the story of its end to The Associated Press in describing the first battle of the Philippine sea—which Japanese officers consider one of the most decisive engagements in Pacific naval warfare.

The Taisho was flagship of the attacking force under Adm. Jisaburo Ozawa. The group was attempting to save Japanese surface ships after their air power was smashed off Saipan.

After it was hit, one of the carrier's compartments burst into flame but the fire was extinguished. The ship steamed northward beyond the range of American planes.

Suddenly, the Taisho exploded violently and disintegrated into flaming wreckage. It sank in a matter of seconds, and only a few of the crew survived. Ohnaka said gasoline fumes loosed by the torpedo explosion had ignited.

The staff officer said that both he and Ozawa had been aboard, but transferred to another vessel 15 minutes before the explosion.

Ozawa later appeared as commander of the task force which engaged Admiral Halsey's Third Fleet at the northern end of the Philippine sea. In that battle, the Japanese Navy was erased as an effective combat force.

Ohnaka said, however, that the first battle of the Philippine sea was the most decisive naval battle of the war.

"Japan lost its sea power in the Pacific after that and was unable to protect the homeland," he said.

Albany, N. Y., Dec. 11 (AP)—Clifford J. Nuhn, editorial director of the Poughkeepsie New Yorker, is the new president of the New York State Associated Press Association.

He was elected yesterday to succeed Fritz Updike, managing editor of the Rome Daily Sentinel.

Vincent S. Jones, executive editor of the Utica Daily Press and the Utica Observer-Dispatch, was elected vice president, and W. Norris Faxon, chief of the Albany AP Bureau, was re-elected secretary-treasurer.

About 100 members heard Governor Dewey's off-the-record talk at a dinner concluding the annual meeting. Milt Morris, AP cartoonist, spoke of his work, illustrating his remarks with rapid charcoal sketches.

Harold W. Sanford, editor of the Rochester Democrat and Chronicle, asked members to support proposed legislation which would hold the source of confidential information. Sanford is chairman of a committee in the New York State Society of Newspaper Editors that seeks such a law in New York.

Members adopted a resolution recommending creation of a committee on standards to foster closer cooperation among themselves in the exchange and distribution of news. They also recommended that the annual state photographic contest for member papers be resumed in 1946.

Other resolutions:

Commended the Albany bureau and upstate correspondents for their work.

Highly commended the comprehensive coverage, under the direction of General Manager Kent Cooper, of the recent war.

Recorded regret over the death of Rudolph W. Chamberlain, editorial writer of the Auburn Citizen Advertiser.

Hashimoto May Not Give His Testimony

Washington, Dec. 11 (AP)—The judge advocate in the courtmartial of Capt. Charles V. McVay, 3rd, said today he was not certain whether he would call a Japanese submarine commander to testify on the sinking of the U.S.S. Indianapolis.

Ike Hashimoto, commander of the Jap submarine I-58, reported to have sunk the heavy cruiser last July 30 with a heavy loss of life, was flown to Washington from Japan at the request of Capt. Thomas J. Ryan, Jr., the judge advocate.

Captain Ryan said he had spent four hours questioning Hashimoto through interpreters. He said he had had no chance to determine to his own satisfaction whether Hashimoto was competent and credible as a witness and added that newsmen would be advised "if and when he will be used as a witness."

Hashimoto is being held at the Washington Navy Yard. Captain Ryan said he was not a prisoner of

Jap Movie Industry; Papers Sign Contracts

Tokyo, Dec. 11 (AP)—The Japanese Motion Picture Producers' Association signed Japan's first industry-wide collective bargaining agreement today and newspaper employees of Tokyo's leading daily likewise won a contract with allied help.

Employees of the film industry were reported organizing a trade union and were expected to demand a wage increase later.

A two and a half-month dispute between Yomiuri Hochi, Tokyo's largest daily, ended with the signature of an agreement worked out by an allied-sponsored arbitration committee.

American authorities said the newspaper union was the first labor organization to fight for and win the right to bargain collectively since the allied occupation began.

Matsutaro Shoriki, president of Yomiuri who signed for the management, is expected to be arrested tomorrow as an alleged war criminal.

Woman Shopper Reports Theft From Parked Car

The theft of a considerable quantity of women's and boys' and girls' clothing as well as a number of Christmas toys, from the parked station wagon of Mrs. Robert Osborn of Haines Falls, was reported to the police department Monday evening by Mrs. Osborn.

She said that she had driven other women, and that during the day they had made a considerable number of purchases. Late Monday afternoon she said she parked the station wagon on Broadway, near Cedar street, as the group had a few more purchases to make.

When they returned to the station wagon they found it had been moved and all of the articles left in the wagon had been stolen.

Mrs. Gorman Heads Christmas Committee

Mrs. Vincent A. Gorman was chosen chairman, and Mrs. George D. Logan financial secretary, it was announced at the meeting of the city's Christmas Cheer Committee held Monday afternoon in the mayor's office in the city hall.

Because merchandise is as yet difficult to purchase, it was decided to furnish all the children on the committee's list with purchase orders. The city's merchants have all been advised of this fact, and will cash these purchase orders for children's clothing.

Only children up to and including 12 years of age are eligible for this type of order.

Lists of worthy cases are being compiled daily, and all orders will be in the mail within a few days so that the parents of the children may purchase needed clothing and other wearing apparel before Christmas.

Any firms or individuals desiring to make contributions to the Christmas Cheer Fund may do so by mailing their donation to Mrs. Logan, 68 Garden street, or to the mayor's office in the city hall.

Woman Says She Was Hurt in Fall At Parking Lot

Mrs. Woodrow Hoyt of Hunter suffered an injured leg in a fall into a hole in the John street parking grounds late Monday afternoon, according to a report filed with the police department.

Officer Frank Sammons, who investigated the accident, reported that there was a large hole in the grounds, and that a can had been placed in the hole, but it did not cover it, and anyone was liable to fall into the excavation.

The police department got in touch with James Rowe of the Uptown Business Men's Association, and he informed the police that the hole had been there for the past two months, and that efforts to have the Board of Public Works fill it had proven futile.

Plan Drive for Canned Goods in Shandaken Area

On Thursday a house to house canvass will be made of the Catholic homes in the township of Shandaken in conjunction with the nationwide campaign to gather great quantities of canned goods for the starving millions of Europe and Asia. This campaign is being conducted under the auspices of the Catholic War Relief Services. Since the beginning of operations of War Relief Services in August, 1943, an average of one ship every 10 days has left the United States for the areas of need with clothing and foodstuffs collected through the Catholic churches of the United States. Though this contribution is valued at $35,000,000, the present campaign for food for the war-stricken of Europe and the Far East will be the largest campaign undertaken by American Catholics to relieve the harrowing distress throughout the war-crippled areas.

The Rev. Edward Barry, M.S., is chairman for the committee of St. Francis de Sales Parish, Phoenixia. He will be assisted by the following committee members: Leonard Colange, Michael J. Murphy, James Reilly, Eugene B. Gormley, Gus Simpson, Frank O'Brien, Jack Hughes, Joseph Sweeney and Joseph Pessner.

Anyone wishing to contribute towards this campaign for canned goods should notify some member of the committee before Thursday.

Training Is Attacked

Washington, Dec. 10 (AP)—Organized labor lashed out against universal military training legislation today, demanding to know whom the United States is preparing to fight. Heading a group of union spokesmen called to testify during what may be the final week of hearings on the proposal, Lewis G. Hines, legislative representative of the American Federation of Labor, asked the House Military Committee: "May we in all fairness ask, preparedness for what? If we are on the brink of another war, should we not have the right to demand, with whom, when and where?"

Flashes of Life Sketched in Brief

What Rationing?
Albuquerque, N. M., Dec. 11 (AP)—Food rationing? Shucks, it wasn't any problem at all, restaurateur Gus Bruskas told the O.P.A.

Bruskas said his cafe had 151,603 red points on hand when meat rationing was ended, and that he voluntarily surrendered 500,000 surplus blue points in the past year.

Two For One
Scobey, Mont., Dec. 11 (AP)—Two hunters, a man and a bobcat, were stalking the same jackrabbit.

When Sheldon E. Kosher raised his rifle to shoot, a bobcat sprang at the rabbit from a gully. Kosher missed the rabbit.

But he bagged the bobcat.

Trapper
Denver, Dec. 11 (AP)—Howard Cook claims he caught an unwary cock pheasant—which is almost a contradiction in terms—handed while hunting the birds in an open cornfield near Fort Morgan.

He said he had already shot one pheasant and was walking from the field when he saw the tail of a pheasant protruding from under cornstalks. He reached for the tail and much to his surprise had a live pheasant on his hands.

Tough Breaks
Delano, Calif., Dec. 11 (AP)—Woodrow Wilson Latimer escaped injury last night in a peacoup fog auto collision. But as he and the other driver talked things over, a third car bored through the swirling fog, hit Latimer and broke his left leg.

Cecil La Course, ambulance driver, had just put Latimer inside, and was closing the doors, when a truck rolled up, hit the ambulance, broke La Course's right leg, and knocked Latimer out of the ambulance.

Volunteers got the injured men to a hospital without further mishap.

Small Talk
Chicago, Dec. 11 (AP)—Daniel Cercone, student at a service station, was being robbed by a man who pointed a .45 caliber automatic at him.

William McNell, a part-time employee at the station, passed by and called to Cercone: "Hi, Dan."

"Hi, Bill," said Cercone.

Cercone said the bandit became so flustered he drove away in his car—accompanied by another man and two women—without paying for 10 gallons of gasoline.

Power Is Discharged
Hollywood, Dec. 11 (AP)—"Living" one's role is common theatrical jargon. And few actors will have a better chance to do just that than Tyrone Power. For he says his first postwar role will be that of a young man in the reconversion period. The handsome actor, 31, was discharged as a Marine Lieutenant in San Francisco yesterday. He'll return to films, he says, at conclusion of his terminal leave. While in service, he was credited with 11,000 flying hours.

Dinner Club Will Hear Major Fielding

"Yugoslavia may be the breeding place of future world unrest and war. Led by the most dynamic man in Central and Southern Europe and with her 1000 miles of Adriatic coastline protected by landlocked Russia, she presents a possible threat to world peace," says Maj. Temple Fielding, whose army career took him to the Balkans for special liaison-intelligence work. Major Fielding will speak to the members of the National Dinner Club Wednesday at 6:30 o'clock in the Governor Clinton Hotel.

Major Fielding has chosen for his subject, "The Case of Tito and the Soviet." He reveals the facts of Tito's mysterious background—the story of a peasant from Croatia who rose to be Marshal of Yugoslavia. He tells of Tito's schooling in a super-secret Moscow institution and of his subsequent development into the strongest man in central or southern Europe.

Having served with the army since 1941 Major Fielding retired to inactive status early this year. His army role had taken him to North Africa, Italy and the Balkans. He parachuted with the British, hit a beachhead with the U. S. Rangers and lived behind enemy lines under the noses of the Nazis.

past, present and future
Growth is nothing new to Standard Furniture Company. From our earliest days, back in 1907, down to the present, we have keyed our progress to that of the communities we serve, expanding to meet the greater needs of families in this area.
We are proud of the names on our books... a blue ribbon list of families including many who have been Standard customers through three generations. These old customers and our new ones, as well, have contributed in large measure to every forward step in the history of our business.
Now we are about to add new friends in Schenectady and Troy, and we look with confidence and eager anticipation to the years ahead when "Greater Standards for Better Living" will bring increased comfort and happiness to homes in the Hudson and Mohawk Valleys.

Good Taste Today

By Emily Post
(Author of "Etiquette," "Children Are People," etc.)

SHE DIDN'T LIKE CARROTS
On the subject of trying to remember the dishes that guests enjoyed especially, this story has just been told me by a neighbor who sometime ago was told enthusiastically by another neighbor that the carrots served at lunch were from her own garden. This guest, as a matter of fact, really dislikes carrots but wanting to be appreciative made an effort not only to praise them but also to eat them with apparent relish. She went so far as to say they were the most delicious carrots she ever had eaten. (She didn't explain that "never" meant almost never.) The unhappy result has been that every time she takes a meal with this neighbor, she is fed carrots!

This was, of course, a reverse side of my column's suggestion that a hostess remember her guest's likes and dislikes.

Unforgivable Tactlessness
Dear Mrs. Post: Would it be improper for the maid of honor and the best man to drive in the same car with the bride and groom from the church to the reception?

Answer: I can't imagine such tactlessness as intruding upon the bride and groom on that one particular occasion. It would be better to go to the house no matter how far rather than break in upon one of the most hallowed moments in life.

Introducing a New Daughter-in-law
Dear Mrs. Post: My son has just married and is coming here on his honeymoon to see us so we can meet his wife. We are planning to give the couple a reception at that time. How shall I introduce her to the guests who will be in greatest number the friends and relatives of my husband and myself.

Answer: You don't have to give her name because everyone knows who is standing beside you. The best way to introduce them to her is by saying, "Sally, this is our neighbor, Mrs. Brown," or "This is John's Aunt, Mary," or "These are John's Uncle Henry," or "These are among our dearest friends, Mr. and Mrs. Jones," etc.

Flowers for the Sick
Dear Mrs. Post: I am going to the hospital with a girl friend to see her mother, who is a stranger to me. Should I take her flowers or something else?

Answer: Flowers are always appreciated, but it is not expected that you take them, unless you grow them or can easily afford to buy them.

Do you know how to dispose of fruit pits at a dinner. The answer may be found in Mrs. Post's leaflet, "Table Rules of Importance," obtainable for a 3-cent stamped, self-addressed envelope sent to this newspaper, P. O. Box 99, Station C, New York, 19, N. Y. (Released by The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

Help Prevent Worse Cuts in Our Soap Supply

Your Used Fats Are Still Needed To Help Ease The Soap Shortage

As long as our country's supply of industrial fats is so low, the government must determine how much fat can be released to make soap and other peacetime goods you need.

Any let-down in your saving of used kitchen fats will make our fat supply even less... and the amount allowed for soap manufacture may have to be cut accordingly. The end of rationing of food fats doesn't change the picture. Industrial fats are still very short. So keep turning in your used fats, won't you?... and speed the return of more soaps to your dealer's shelves.

Where there's fat, there's soap torial power of his predecessor.

The majors approved the amendment to the major-minor agreement adopted by the minors last week which removes from the commissioner authority to rule on baseball legislation "detrimental." This was the same rule adopted by the majors a few weeks after Bonds' death in November, 1944, and before Chandler became commissioner.

Stripping Not Intended

It was not the intent, the managers said after a joint session yesterday, to "take away any of the commissioner's authority to investigate, determine and punish conduct detrimental to baseball." He still suggests reconsideration by the magnates of legislation he considers "impractical or disadvantageous" to baseball, but the owners can over-ride his veto which they couldn't do to Landis under old code.

The Reds seemer unconcerned by the departure of McCormick, who was Most Valuable National League Player in 1940 and a veteran of eight full seasons at Cincinnati with a lifetime big league batting mark of just under .300. The Reds, who finished ninth last season, admitted they broke

The majors approved the boost in the International League, American Association and Pacific Coast Leagues to "AAA" classification; the Southern Association, Texas League to "AA" and South Atlantic League to "A."
